Games have become a turning moment in entertainment industry and the blockchain could be the first technology to change the whole nature of gaming fundamentally. The Metaverse possibilities are the main example, but GameFi is the next logical development step that could serve as a bridge from P2E gaming to a fundamentally new form of entertainment.

Entering the multi-billion market of gaming industry

The WhiteOx story began in 2019, with the idea of renting out Axies to other Axie Infinity players who couldn't buy their own. By October 2020 it became clear how this helps players to create another income source during the pandemic by doing what they really love.

That's how the story of creating and launching a full-scale gaming ecosystem for players, investors and developers based on blockchain, cryptophilosophy and decentralization got started.

WhiteOx is a symbiosis that combines GameFi + NFT and aims to provide a platform where people can earn with their NFT Grails and play exciting games.

Many people do not understand the concepts of CeDeFi, NFT and Play2Earn.
So the project aims to provide a universal solution where everyone can easily and interactively understand all these aspects and actually use it, as well as be able to earn cryptocurrency by several ways.

But many projects don't have the right architecture to support this movement. WhiteOx offers a profitable opportunity for GameFi projects to expand use cases and provide an immersive gaming experience in the P2E gaming economy.

Guaranteed Allocation, Well-Established IGO Projects, Inevitable Profit Generation

Investors and project owners' barriers are resolved as guaranteed allocations become a reality.

WhiteOx maintains a unique allocation using the WhiteOx Power Level $WPL reputation development mechanism, providing a guaranteed access for investors to IGO projects' allocation pool by reaching 20,000 WPL and more, regardless of the partnership level.

Collective DAO

WPL Staking Platform

Your Choice. Your Decision. Your Crypto World.

WhiteOx moves step by step towards a full DAO structure taking a holistic and methodical approach to decentralization.

The first step of this process is focused on the tokenized community.
This community is WPL token holders with a unique and exciting system of multi-level management and development.

Each WhiteOx user has the opportunity to become a co-owner and participate in the decision-making process due to the launchpad functions and the moderation of new projects.

User must hold at least 200,000 WPL on the account to participate in the WhiteOx Collective DAO.

WPL Token Holders can also lock up their tokens through Website to earn rewards and interests.

Staking will feature plain WPL alongside an WPL/WOX pair. More pairs will be added later to stimulate market liquidity.

WPL Tokenomics

Thanks to the WPL DAO Utility Token, WhiteOx could work as a decentralized platform with a complex infrastructure.

We implement the WPL token as a Polygon ERC-20 token. It opens up a number of opportunities for users, such as buying NFTs on the marketplace, participating in DAO and much more.

WhiteOx has enabled a token burn feature to fight inflation and depreciation. The WPL digital coin creators destroy part of the emission in order to limit the offer, thereby increasing the asset cost. All coin burning operations are recorded in the blockchain as a transaction, so any user can easily verify that the coins have been really permanently withdrawn from circulation.

The main features of WPL token

TOKEN Name:	WPL
Platform:	Polygon ERC-20
Total supply:	100,000,000 WPL
Amount to Stay in Circulation:	40,000,000 WPL
Burnable:	Every quarter, 20 percent of WhiteOx profits will be directed to the WPL buyout and its burning

Development stages of WPL

The WPL token will not be in open access at the first stage of launch. It can be only obtained for particular actions within the ecosystem, forming an increased product value for early users.
